

At the start of Vertical Replenishment on the West Coast the only cargo handling equipment was developed for inter-ship use and was not usable for VertRep operations, so we had to experiment with available items to get the job done. This rig proved to be unsatisfactory for Vert Rep.